- New Sprinter arrives in spring

February 13, 2007, Toronto - Continuing its reign as North America's top-performing commercial van, Dodge announced pricing for the all-new 2007 Dodge Sprinter.

"As the foundation for Dodge's commercial vehicle strategy, the all-new 2007 Dodge Sprinter boasts expanded versatility and offers more choices, features and value while re-establishing the new commercial standard for full-size vans," said Tom Loveless, Director – Dodge Marketing and Global Communications, Chrysler Group.

The base Manufacturers Suggested Retail Price (MSRP) for the all-new 2007 Dodge Sprinter Chassis Cab is $30, 950, which includes $980 for destination. The MSRP for the all-new 2007 Dodge Sprinter Cargo Van is $31,290 and the all-new Sprinter Passenger Van is $33,490, both also include $980 for destination. Dodge's all-new work vans arrive this spring.

Dodge's super-sized Sprinter offers expanded versatility and even more choices and features. Compared to the previous model, the all-new 2007 Dodge Sprinter boasts increases in width (2 inches), interior height (11 inches), exterior height (13 inches), cargo area length (19 inches), vehicle length (30 inches), cargo volume (127 cu. ft.), and towing capacity (2,500 lbs.).

Sprinter is available in three vehicle lengths (233, 273 and 289 inches) on two new wheelbases of 144 inches or 170 inches, or 170 inches extended with a 15-inch longer rear overhang. It also boasts three interior roof height options: standard (65 inches), high (76 inches) and new mega (84 inches) — the most among full-size vans.

"With two all-new engines, new vehicle lengths and wheelbases, three interior roof height options, and a host of new features and innovations, Sprinter breaks the mold of current domestic van offerings and delivers superior quality, reliability and commercial capability," said Loveless.

Powered by a choice of two all-new premium engines, a 3.0-liter V-6 diesel engine with 154 horsepower and 280 lb.-ft. of torque or 3.5-liter V-6 gas engine with 254 horsepower and 250 lb.-ft. of torque, three different Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR) configurations are offered including a new higher maximum GVWR up to 11,030 lbs. for cargo vans and chassis cabs. With increased best-in-class interior height (up to 84 inches), up to 7-feet of interior workspace is provided.

With a versatile lineup of cargo vans, passenger vans and chassis cab models, the all-new 2007 Dodge Sprinter raises the bar and sets a new commercial standard in the full-size van market.
