September 11, 2012, New York - Designer John Varvatos, a son of Detroit, has never forgotten where he came from. As a partner, John Varvatos exemplifies many of the values that the Chrysler Brand reveres. He's shown what a blue-collar attitude can do in a white-collar world, and is living proof that style and luxury can come from a place like the Motor City.

Like John Varvatos, the 2013 Chrysler 300 continues to prove that world-class quality, performance and craftsmanship can be designed and developed in Detroit. This collaboration enabled the Chrysler brand to mold its thinking in a similar way that has made John Varvatos a trailblazer of modern fashion. Influenced by rock 'n' roll and heavy industry, the Chrysler 300C John Varvatos Limited Edition and the 300C John Varvatos Luxury Edition, breed pride and give power to the meaning of “Imported from Detroit.” Both flagship sedans prove the belief, that when inspired, hard work can make beautiful things.

“Inspiration can come from anywhere, it doesn't have to grow under office lights,” said Saad Chehab, President and CEO – Chrysler Brand, Chrysler Group LLC. “Our new Chrysler 300C John Varvatos sedans are more than a design partnership. They symbolize the soul of two great brands, respecting their Detroit roots, and who share a passion to deliver high-quality design that's tough, yet tailored.”

Chrysler designers working hand-in-hand with John Varvatos set out to deliver a concept that delivers on Detroit's competitive spirit – if you come in early, leave late and work harder than the next guy, the Chrysler 300C John Varvatos sedans will reward you for your effort and persistence.

"Working with the Chrysler team on this project has been amazing. It captured my Detroit roots and the pride that we all share," said John Varvatos. "It is a great time for a new generation of Detroit leadership in the automobile world, and I am excited and proud to be a part of it."
