FCA US “Women of Color” Earn Recognition at Annual STEM Event

- The Women of Color Conference honors significant achievements of women in STEM careers
- Eighteen FCA US women earn awards for excellence in technical and managerial leadership
- Awards underscore Company’s commitment to develop diverse talent and promote careers in STEM

October 15, 2018, Auburn Hills, Mich. - FCA US LLC technical business leaders received honors for their career achievements at the annual Women of Color STEM Conference held October 11-13 in Detroit.

The Women of Color Conference honors the significant achievements of women in STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) professions. The conference ensures that the accomplishments of outstanding women in technical fields are highly visible to industry professionals, government officials and students.

FCA US employees consistently have earned important technical professional recognition from various diversity organizations, including Black Engineer of the Year, Women of Color, HENAAC Great Minds in STEM and others, reflecting the Company’s strong commitment to developing its diverse workforce.

"The Women of Color Awards celebrate many of the country's most promising and influential female technical business leaders," said Brian Johnson, Senior Manager, Diversity & Inclusion, FCA US LLC. "FCA US is proud that our women technical leaders are regarded consistently among such accomplished professionals."
