March 6, 2019, Auburn Hills, Mich. - The Dodge brand is launching a national marketing campaign, “Muscleville,” featuring four new TV spots and digital/social content across its Facebook, Instagram and Twitter channels. The campaign marks the brand's “Dodge Performance Days” sales event throughout the month of March. Two of the four television spots, “Welcome to Muscleville” and “Fast Lane”, can be viewed now on the Dodge brand's YouTube channel .

“There’s no better time than Spring to kick off muscle car season,” said Steve Beahm, Head of Passenger Car Brands, Dodge//SRT, Chrysler and FIAT – FCA North America. “And what better way to celebrate our Dodge//SRT enthusiasts than to create a town just for them. In fact, our fans had the opportunity to line up on Main Street to meet the ‘Mayor’ and participate in the production, making them honorary residents of ‘Muscleville,’ a Dodge owner’s paradise.”

“Welcome to Muscleville”

“Fast Lane”

The campaign gives muscle car enthusiasts a town of their own. It’s a place where speed bumps don’t exist and donuts are served fresh every morning at the corner of SRT Street and Charger Lane. Welcome to Muscleville, where the only dating is speed dating and the town square is a straightaway with a Christmas Tree in place of traffic lights. The campaign features Dodge personality Bill Goldberg (professional athlete, NFL player, pro wrestler and automobile aficionado) as the mayor of Muscleville. (Goldberg starred in the Dodge brand’s “Jolly Fast Man” series last year).

The brand transformed Taft, California, a small town in Kern County, California, into “Muscleville.” The Dodge campaign “Muscleville” was created in partnership with Doner.
